

Electronic Transit Calendar

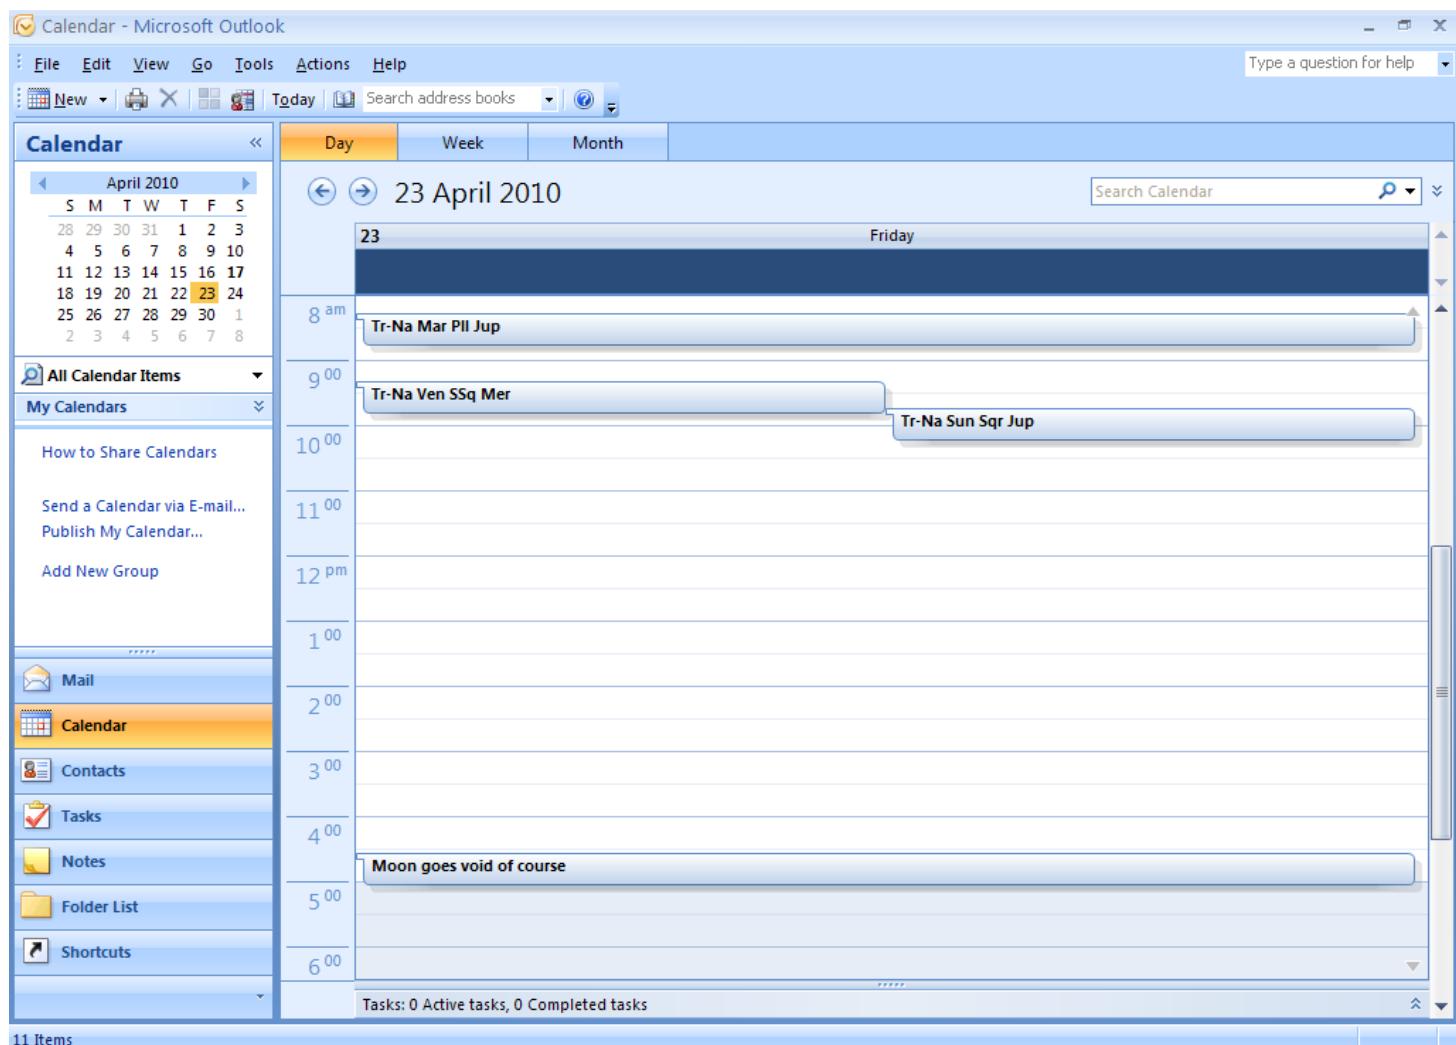

Each transit is placed in your diary at the precise time of day that it becomes exact, enabling you to plan your schedule around any positive transits and avoid any potentially difficult transits. Times when the moon goes Void of Course or enters a new sign are also indicated.

One of the best ways to use this calendar and understand how, when and why the planets affect you is to keep a short diary of your own and enter the dominant themes and influences that you experience in any given day.

Below are three screenshots to give you an idea of how the electronic transits calendar appears in Outlook.

- The first screenshot shows an example of a typical day view
- The second screenshot provides a view of the current week
- The third image shows the full month view

Clicking on any entry gives a brief (one line) explanation of the likely affect of each influence.
